MEMORANDUM FOR: [REDACTED]

SUBJECT : IG Survey on Foreign Intelligence Collection Requirements

Fred:

Would you kindly determine what type action is required as a follow-up to the IG Survey on Foreign Intelligence Collection Requirements. Attached (Enclosure 1) is a copy of a 3 October Memo from Admiral Taylor to Agency Deputy Directors alerting them that the Director requested a 1 January 1968 review of the progress made since the survey was conducted.

At the request of Mr. Duckett, I sent copies of these memoranda to all Office Directors and took other action as indicated in my 26 October note to Mr. Duckett (attached as Enclosure 2). Apparently, Mr. Duckett did mention it at a staff meeting in late October, but in attempting to pursue this recently I was told that the Office Chiefs were not assigned any specific action. [REDACTED] feels that the committees which have been set up (e. g. the one such as that under [REDACTED] will make any reports necessary. On the other hand, [REDACTED] responded to Mr. Duckett's remarks at the Staff meeting by forwarding his comments, also attached (Enclosure 3). My question is as follows: Does Mr. Duckett require any formal reports from the Office Directors and, if not, what further steps should be taken to anticipate a DDS&T progress report to be ready for the Director by 1 January. Will this necessarily be a written report, or will it be that Admiral Taylor will convene another meeting of the senior members and obtain a verbal report.

Because of his participation in the Senior Officers' meeting with Admiral Taylor, Mr. Duckett has great personal knowledge of the problem and knows what would be required. The original papers from the DDCI were returned to him for use at the DDS&T Staff meeting.
